Counsellor's Chronicles

Education is a continuous process, each stage marks a significant transition that establishes the next step. With every class promotion, the achievement of ranks and marks also announce another progress-significant steps towards maturity that extends beyond understanding of academic concepts and showcases the growth of dominant personality traits and associated areas of interests .

College preparations indirectly start at this time, once you realise the following-

Recognise your personality traits

Streamlined participation in extra curricular/ sports activities. Note the skills, the participation helps to evolve...

Make a conscious attempt to contribute to society.

Maintain academic consistency, avoid fluctuating scores.

Grade 9 subject choices is the first preliminary step, though it has been noticed that academic selections may change. But what remains constant and steadily blossoms are the individual character traits and the preferences. Cherish your individuality, it will be your greatest asset when you step into the world of UG applications.

We spend too much time trying to reach other people's standards, and too little time defining our own.

It's better to disappoint another person than to lead a life that disappoints you.

Success is not about meeting someone else's expectations. It's about living up to yours.

Remember to collect and keep a record of all your participation activities!

Alumni Talk

Criticisms abound that school learning is rote learning, the skills and values needed in the real world are not dealt with in the school ecosystem.

The alumni are the best ambassadors who happily showcase the values and ideologies that a school inspires and implements the skills that are part of daily learning .

We hosted the first offline Alumni Expert Talk session at DYPIS, Nerul on 2nd August .

Akila Sekar, 2016 IBDP batch, is currently a doctoral researcher in Neurology from University College , London. She delivered a super hit in the session. The audience loved her reality bytes , the importance of skills @dypisnerul and her transition. The 40 minutes session went beyond the stipulated time and the Q&A segment extended far beyond the 10 minutes slot.

Expert Advice-” Back to School”

Shyness marked my growth, I was terrified I may go wrong and will be judged .My teachers forced me to participate .I gradually realised that it is absolutely okay not to win every time. I started to value myself when on stage and off stage too! The sisters of my convent taught me that politeness and etiquette are accessories that transform even the most ordinary souls. to extraordinary ones. Always flaunt them and BE KIND ! Empathy today is a key leadership skill.
